Dear fellow music Teacher/Instructor,

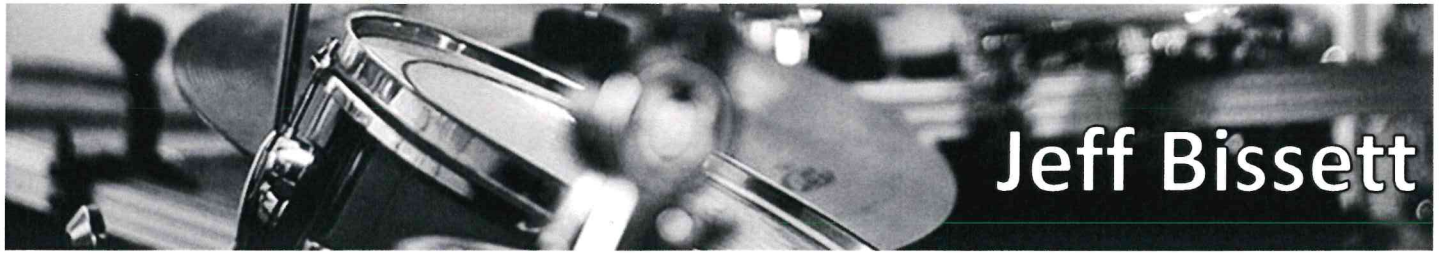

I am a Portland based drum instructor with over 25 years of professional drumming and percussion experience in many genres and have been teaching for over 15 years. As music educators, I feel we will have the best impact on our students' successes working together and would appreciate any referrals for potential percussion/drum students you feel would benefit from private instruction. My website address and contact information for recent reviews/referrals are provided below, as well as in my attached resume.

I offer lessons either from the comfort of my student's home or from my home studio in SE Portland, and the first lesson for new students is always free. I currently have openings in my schedule to accommodate new students and would love to collaborate with you and your budding musicians!

Kind regards,
Jeff
